EFI Short Scientific Visits 2017

1 BACKGROUND

EFI offers 10 grants for Short Scientific Visits (SSV) for Early Stage Researchers¹ from EFI Associate Member organisations. These Visits provide a unique opportunity for interested candidates to get involved in international level forest research and research co-operation.

The aims of a Short Scientific Visit are to contribute to the scientific objectives of EFI and to strengthen the EFI network by allowing young scientists to: 1) visit an institution in another European country, 2) foster collaboration and 3) learn a new technique, use methods and tools not available in their own institution. The Visits should take place between June 2017 and May 2018.

The Short Scientific Visit should last for a minimum of two weeks (10 working days).

The topic of the Visit should fall within one of the EFI priority research topics:

I. Bioeconomy

Sub-topics:

- I.a The future demand and supply of forest products, forest biomass and ecosystem services, and their implications for sustainable forest and land management, including afforestation and plantation forestry.
- I.b Sustainability impact assessment and monitoring of forest-based products and services value chains.
- I.c The future markets of increasingly diversified and cross-sectoral forest-based products and services as a result of socioeconomic and policy changes.
- I.d The role of innovation and digitalization, and policies affecting sustainable bioeconomy development

II. Resilience

Sub-topics:

- II.a The impacts of global change and related risks on forest socio-ecological systems, and the strategies to enhance and restore their capacity to adapt and provide forest ecosystem services and products.
- II.b Policies, strategies and management practices to enhance biodiversity in a rapidly changing environment, considering different regional and socio-economic settings.
- II.c Strategies and management practices to enhance the role of forests and trees in increasing the resilience of rural areas to climate change, including a better understanding of agroforestry.
- II.d The role of urban forestry, nature-based solutions and wood construction in developing climate smart cities, better rural-urban interfaces and enhancing health and wellbeing in urban areas.

III. Governance

Sub-topics:

- III.a Forest and land use conflicts and synergies, including an understanding of key societal demands and the trade-offs between forest ecosystem services, products and land uses.
- III.b The design of appropriate forest and land use governance schemes, including new and innovative approaches to involve stakeholders, align diverging interests and seek synergies.
- III.c The impacts of different supply chains and international trade, including agricultural commodities, for international forest governance, land use conflicts and sustainable development.
- III.d European forest-related policies and forest governance, addressing both regional diversity within Europe as well as emerging global challenges and opportunities.
