

Welcome to the XIX edition of this annual Young Forester Researchers Meeting on Conservation and Sustainable Use of Forest Systems.

This academic activity concerns young researchers from different MSc and PhD programs. This conference is open to researchers from different universities and research centers in Spain.

What does our new beautiful image mean? Created by Muy Pájara

The Jay (Garrulus glandarius) represents the birth of a forest, for its work of selection, collection and planting of future trees, burying the acorns that give rise to Quercus sp., highly representative species of Spanish forest ecosystems and also related to symbiotic associations. Finally, tree rings allow us to study the growth of trees or the environmental changes they have undergone over the years; and whose study is essential both for the conservation and sustainable management of forests.
